THE DAISY SHOOTING EDUCATION / COMPETITION

Since 1965, Daisy and The U.S. Jaycees have cosponsored a program that begins with shooting education in local hometowns and ends with an international event. Today, Jaycee chapters across our country conduct supervised classes to teach boys and girls age 8-15 proper gun handling and marksmanship (a total of 250,000 kids annually). Beyond the local shooting education activities, kids can go on to compete in state and regional competitions. Then, each year, those winners are brought together for the International BB Gun Championship Match – the oldest and largest continuous airgun competition in the world.

Daisy stands ready, willing, and able to assist any qualifying organization, church, or civic group with the correct products and curriculum necessary to establish a shooting education program of their own.

In addition to knowledge and advice, Daisy has created complete Shooting Education Kits which include airguns, ammunition, target backstops, shooting range plans, and training manuals. These kits are available at discounted package prices exclusively to non-profit organizations with organized shooting education programs.

Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts, camps, schools, clubs and service organizations are just some of the groups who are discovering airgun shooting as a new and exciting recreational activity. And they're learning the value of gun safety along the way.

Your group can, too! If you'd like to begin a program, simply call Daisy Special Markets Programs at (800) 643-3458 or for all the details and special pricing.

Proper gun handling, community involvement, youth/adult interaction and equal opportunity fun. It all comes together when your group gets together in a Shooting Education Program.
